The Language of Music: An Italian Affair

Wednesday October 21, 2020

The event will be held in English ONLINE on Zoom from 7:30 pm to 9:00 pm

Across the centuries, Italian has permeated musicians' lingo and music scores mainly thanks to Opera. From Monteverdi to Rossini, from Verdi to Puccini, Opera has shown what Italian language and music can do when they are matched together.

Join Italian guitarist Carlo Fierens for a colourful and enriching talk on the relevance of the Italian language in the history of Western music.
Music samples will be performed by Fierens on classical guitar.

Born and raised in Italy, Carlo Fierens has completed a Doctoral degree in classical guitar at Indiana University (USA). His career as award winning performer has brought him around the globe. He is guitar professor at the Conservatory of Potenza, Italy.
